The Mainichi Shimbun has the most storied history of any daily newspaper in Japan.

1872 The Tokyo Nichi Nichi Shimbun is founded. The Tokyo Nichi Nichi Shimbun is Tokyo's first daily newspaper. Today, successor Mainichi Shimbun is Japan's oldest extant daily newspaper.

1875 The paper begins the world's first home delivery service. The Mainichi Shimbun began the home delivery system that underpins Japan's newspaper circulation rate, among the world's highest.

1876 Osaka Nippo is founded.

1888 Osaka Nippo becomes Osaka Mainichi Shimbun. The change marks the beginning of the unbiased neutrality characteristic of the Mainichi Shimbun.

1900 Japan's first female reporter debuts. Japan's pioneer woman reporter joins the reporting staff of the household topics page.

- 1911 Osaka Mainichi Shimbun and Tokyo Nichi Nichi shimbun merge. Mainichi establishes the Sunday Mainichi magazine, the English-Language Mainichi, and the Braille Mainichi. The Braille Mainichi continues to be issued as Japan's only Braille newspaper.
- 1922 Mainichi founds the Weekly Economist, Japan's leading economic magazine.
- 1923 The mastheads of the Osaka Mainichi Shimbun and Tokyo Nichi Nichi Shimbun are unified under the name Mainichi Shimbun.
- 1943 The Mainichi Newspapers Co. institutes its corporate philosophy and launches a new format.
- 1991 Mainichi opens the Jam Jam Internet website. (The website name is now "Mainichi.jp")
- 1995 Mainichi opens the Jam Jam Internet website. (The website name is now "Mainichi.jp")
- 2014 On February 21, Mainichi celebrated its 143th anniversary.
